State Builders Will Convene In Richmond Today

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Football season for the Richmond Union High school opened yesterday with a remarkable crowd present.

* * * *

And considering the weight of the local team, they made a first class showing against the Tech gridders.

* * * *

The high school had a wonderful turnout for its rally on Thursday night. What those school kids didn't do to traffic was nobody's business.

* * * *

There are few high schools in the state that display as much school spirit as the Richmond school does.

* * * *

Some other people are finding that preparing to get married isn't a picnic by a long shot.

* * * *

There's more details to the task than there is in signing an army paper.

* * * *

And after two months of preparation, the couple finds that the marriage ceremony is all over in fifteen minutes.

* * * *

Ever see the movie cowboys on the screen roll a cigarette with one hand.

* * * *

And have you ever tried to do the same stunt yourself?

* * * *

If you haven't . . . don't.

* * * *

Rolling a cigarette takes a lot of practice, tact, discipline and what have you.

* * * *

First you take a cigarette paper and make a V out of it.

* * * *

Then you pour the tobacco in, making sure that half of the can goes on the floor.

* * * *

Then you angle round until you get your fingers placed just so, and start rolling the cigarette.

* * * *

The paper then breaks in half and the tobacco falls out.

* * * *

Then you repeat the process.

* * * *

This time—by the will of Allah . . . you don't break the paper and roll a nice cigarette.

* * * *

Only to discover that one end is out of shape.

* * * *

But this doesn't bother you. Instead you carefully lick the edge of the paper and glue the cigarette together.

* * * *

It is then placed in the mouth and a match is lighted.

* * * *

With the first puff of the cigarette . . . it falls apart.

* * * *

The smoker then says words that he wouldn't say in mixed company . . . and prepares another cigarette.

* * * *

This time he rolls a perfect cigarette.

* * * *

He takes a deep drag from it, exhales and leaves the cigarette in his mouth.

* * * *

A few seconds later he tries to take another puff . . . and finds the fag has gone out. He lights a match and re-lights his smoke.

* * * *

This continues until the cigarette is smoked and a box of matches is used.

* * * *

The smoker then buys himself a pack of tailor mades.

40,000 SEE FLIER DIE IN CRASH

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 UP— The second fatal crash in three days at the National air races today took the life of George Rernic, 65, prominent Roumanian airplane designer.

Fernic attempted a low loop. His plane side-slipped, and struck squarely in the center of a parked ship owned by Miss Martin Bowman, Dixie Derby entrant. Fernic died instantly, but no one else was injured.

W. M. Allison, mechanic, had stepped from Mrs. Bowman's plane only a few minutes before Fernic's ship hurtled down and smashed it. Neither of the planes caught fire.

Home Made

Fernic's monoplane was designed by himself and built at his Long Island factory. Its distinguishing feature was a wind section in the center.

The ship had taken second place in a woman's race about 20 minutes before the fatal crash.

Excited spectators rushed out onto the field in confusion immediately after the crash. Aviators in the vicinity knocked cigarettes and cigars from the hands of smokers to prevent fire while others hurriedly removed Fernic's body from the ruins of the cockpit.

Lindys Leave

The accident, which occurred shortly after Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left for Detroit, almost paralleled that in which Lieut. J. P. Deshazo of the United States Navy was killed Wednesday.

Deshazo tried to zoom up at the completion of a navy race, got caught in the backwash of another plane, and crashed to earth from an altitude of 50 feet, killing himself and a spectator.

Today's wreck occurred on the far side of the field from the reviewing stands, almost in the middle of a bevy of planes waiting their turn in the other events of the day.

WORK PROGRESSING ON FORD FACTORY AT INNER HARBOR

Work on the new Ford factory on the Richmond inner harbor is progressing rapidly.

More than 250 men, employed by the Clinton Construction company, the Western Foundation company and the Ford company are now at work.

More than five huge pile drivers, raising their tall heads above the bustle of busy men, are pounding green and concrete piles into the earth for the foundation of the new plant.

Pile Drivers

Little grey Ford trucks, with dump bodies, scurry about like huge ants, carting concrete to the pile forms.

The pounding of the pile drivers and the hiss of exhaust steam from the pile driver engines—the whirr of gears in the huge concrete mixer arise above the babel of workmen.

In another section of the plant the Jasper-Stacey company is installing the huge sanitary sewer which will serve the Ford plant and other industries on the waterfront.

In another part several Fordson tractors, dragging graders behind them, puff and pant, as they level away the ground.

Concerte piles, fresh from the moulds lay in grey pyramids upon the ground, drying in the sun.

Near the Parr-Richmond terminal a huge railroad crane stands ready to unload piles, lumber and steel from flat cars.

Office Built

A rough, board office houses employes of the Ford company and the contractors.

One's first impression of the interior of the office is a mass of blue prints—Greek to the layman—a complete story to the engineers.

Cars are parked in the neighborhood—despite a sign "No Parking in This Block."

Pile Drivers

At the present time the piles are being driven for the foundation of the plant. Three, four, five and seven are driven for supports to floors and pillars. The lower portions of the piles are wood, while the tops are concrete.

Soon the steel will arrive, and the framework will be started.

The entire scene is a vast area of orderly confusion and a splendid sight to those who insist that building and business are at a standstill.

REVOLT IN ARGENTINE

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 29.—UP—Heavy guards of police, military and naval forces garrisoned Buenos Aires tonight, as the federal government authorities reinforced their emergency precautions against the possibility of rumored revolt in Argentina.

Three warships hurriedly ordered to Buenos Aires lay in the harbor, capable of putting landing parties ashore in the event of an outbreak, or of shelling rebel strongholds should insurrectionists seek to overthrow the administration of President Hipolito Irigoyen.

Troops at Campo Mayo were ordered to stand by at barracks, ready for instant movement to any part of the city. Rumors persisted the military intended to take over control of the defense of Buenos Aires.

The reports were lent some measure of credence by the fact that General Basilio Pertine, commander of the Fourth Army Division, left Cordoba for Buenos Aires, presumably to take up his duties as head of the police here.

AGED PAIR TO FACE CHARGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—UP—A pair of elderly but determined grandparents were held on charges of kidnaping here today.

They are Mr. and Mrs. William Eichnauer, arrested at a downtown hotel on a telegraphic warrant from Reno with John M. Reisert, Jo., 5, the grand-child, in their company.

Mrs. Eichnauer charged that her daughter, Mrs. John M. Reisert, is an unfit guardian for the child. Mrs. Reisert countered with the charge that Eichnauer, her stepfather, was co-respondent in the divorce action between her parents.

Eichauer is a retired artist, Reisert an employe of the Long Island Bond and Mortgage company of New York.

Mrs. Reisert has been living in Reno since her divorce from Reisert and her appointment as the child's custodian.

Mrs. Eichnauer amplified her accusations with many details of alleged defections on Mrs. Reisert's part all of which the daughter denied.

MANY ENJOY R. C. SHOW

Laurels for the evening were unanimously awarded, last night, to the local talent which presented the one-act play, "Poor Old Jim," at the variety show of the Richmond chapter of the American Red Cross at the Roosevelt school.

The play was the result of the able direction of Gervasse Browne which was demonstrated by an almost total absence of amateur acting.

Allen Moore, portraying the part of Jim, showed true histrionic ability. His was a difficult part to get across the footlights, a fact which seemed to bother him very little as he went through his lines. This local young man seemed perfectly at home in making the audience realize that here was a real happening and not a play. He deserves commendation for his performance.

Genevieve Browne and Melvin Sprague, who completed the cast, also deserve mention for the manner in which they put over their parts. In fact, this playlet was the best presented part of the program.

The Berkeley Playmakers offered two plays on the program, "Fifty-Fifty" and "Sheep." The latter, a prize play, deserves special mention because of the way in which Lu Crandall took the part of Sarah Hancock.

It was here that the script called for a depraved old woman and required constant care not to lose the character. Miss Crandall never once forgot that she was stricken by palsy nor did she fail to use the vocal inflections of the mentally deficient.

The comedy "Fifty-Fifty" called forth a great number of laughs as it recalled to the listeners many petty disagreements over the part a man should share in household affairs. This also was made up of Berkeley talent with the exception of Zelda Chapin of Richmond.

The remainder of the program was made up with selections by the school orchestra under the baton of George M. Morris, and a specialty number presented through the courtesy of the Richmond Sciots.

This skit was well received by the audience as the prevailing laughter testified. Perhaps the best part was the original costumes worn by the participants and the clever steps they executed.

The Richmond chapter of the Red Cross deserves praise for the affair not only for its worthy cause but also for the high type of entertainment which it presented. The large attendance left the school auditorium feeling that the evening had been well spent.

Proceeds from the show will be used for relief work among veterans in Richmond.

DYNAMITE USED BY FELON

AMARILLO, Tex., Aug. 30.—(Saturday)—A. D. Payne, who confessed he murdered his wife by placing three sticks of dynamite in the family automobile, suffered a like fate early today when he was blown to pieces by a terrific explosion in his cell at the Potter county jail.

Cause of the blast was not learned immediately although it was believed Payne committed suicide. Jail attendants said no one else in the building was injured.

They said they were certain Payne had chosen this course to defeat justice. The once prominent Amarillo attorney was indicted today by a grand jury which had considered his case five days.

Officials said they believed the prisoner had discharged a small vial of nitro-glycerine or a stick of dynamite against his chest while lying face downward on his bunk.

After hearing the indictment read, Payne said he desired a speedy execution.

He was to have been arraigned next Monday.

A large crowd gathered around the jail.

Sheriff W. N. Thompson and other county officials were summoned immediately.

Payne's chest was crushed by the force of the explosion. Part of his chin was blown away.

RICHMOND HIGH GRIDDERS DEFEAT TECH

LOCALS SCORE IN THIRD QUARTER

The football team of Richmond Union High school opened its 1930 season yesterday afternoon by defeating Oakland Technical High school by a score of six to nothing in their annual gridiron battle.

The lone score of the thrilling battle was made in the third quarter. The visiting squad had been forced back to their 10 yard line by the terrific line plunges of Mike Brock, Richmond fullback.

However, Richmond failed to make their downs, and Tech prepared to kick the ball out of their own territory. But Rasmussen of Tech centered the ball over the heads of his own backfield, an Oakland gridder leaped on the ball, the Richmond squad fell upon him, the ball tumbled out from beneath the heap, and Ed Masek, sensational Richmond halfback, grasped it to score Richmond's winning touchdown. Leslie Scarsella failed to convert.

No Advantage

Neither team was able to gain a marked advantage over the other during the first half, although every minute was filled with fierce, unrelenting battle.

In the first quarter, Richmond succeeded in keeping the play in Tech territory, largely because of the inability of Tech's punter to kick the ball straight and far. The pigskin rolled over the side lines on almost every punting attempt on the part of the visiting team, while Ed Masek of Richmond succeeded in lifting every punt far into Tech's territory.

Tech carried the play into Richmond territory in the second quarter.

The local gridders, however, gradually forced the visiting team back toward the center of the field during the latter part of the period.

Masek Gains

Ed Masek then made the first long run of the game for a gain of 10 yards, placing the ball on Tech's 35 yard line. Oakland punted back to Richmond's 45 yard line, and once more Richmond smashed through the Tech line, Mike Brock carrying the ball to his opponents' 45 yard line. There the half ended.

In the third quarter, Richmond kicked off to Tech's 40 yard line. Tech then started up the field, and reached Richmond's 32 yard line before they were finally stopped. After several line plunges, Tech made a poor punt to the local's 25 yard line, and Masek staged a beautiful punt that brought the play back to Tech's 30 yard line. The ball still remained in Richmond's possession, due to a penalty on Tech for holding.

Mike Brock then started his sensational hammering at the Oakland line. Playing real college football, he drove through to Tech's 10 yard line, where the local squad was finally stopped. The play was then executed by Tech that lost them the game.

Drive Started

Following the touchdown, Masek sent the ball hurtling almost to the visitors' goal line. The Oaklanders again punted toward the center of the field. Richmond had once more started its driving tactics when the quarter ended.

The last quarter was almost a continual repetition of successful line plunges by the Richmond backfield. At one time, the ball was placed upon Oakland's 13 yard line, but the visiting gridders fought successfully to prevent the enlargement of their opponents' score.

Both the squads of Richmond and Technical High schools showed fight in great quantities yesterday although their playing was rather ragged. The Richmond line seemed a bit puzzled during certain critical moments of the contest, while the Tech backfield seemed unable to get the driving power that was shown by the Richmond backs.

Mike Brock and Ed Masek were probably the outstanding stars of yesterday's battle. Both men were invaluable factors in Richmond's offensive. Scarsella, Baskett, Stoddard, and Snodgrass also showed great power in the backfield. John Rosano, a veteran of last season, began to show skill at line plunging in yesterday's game, although he was sent in too late in the game to really reach his peak.

The local line saw heavy duty in yesterday's skirmish with Tech. Ray Juillerat and Carl Drexel displayed consistent speed as ends while big Benny Hoeffer, Westman, and Baxter made a determined stand at guard. Ball and Lilly performed handsomely at tackle. The fight and skill shown at center by spunky Clarence Hall won the cheers of the crowded grandstand. Hall, who weights about 120 pounds, played through almost the entire game like a veteran.

Lineups

Richmond (6)—Gerletti, Juillerat, ends; Ball, Lilly, tackles; Hoeffer, Baxter, guards; Hall, center; Stoddard, quarterback; Masek, Scarsella, halfbacks; Baskett, fullback. Substitutes—Drexel, Passone, ends; Avilla, Ferry, Nizzoli, tackles; Westman, Corrazzo, guards; Snodgrass, halfback; Brock, Rosano, fullbacks. The New York Giants regained second place in the National league Friday by a 3 to 2 win over the Brooklyn Robins in the third game of the series. After being he'd to three hits for six innings on Hogan's single, Jackson's single and an infield out to score one run and make the score 2 to 1. They tallied the two winning runs in the eighth. Allen opened the inning with a home run, with two away, Mickey Finn booted Ott's roller and the Giants' right fielder reached first. Hogan and Jackson then singled to score Ott with what proved to be the winning run.

The Robins scored one in the first inning on Frederick's double, Herman's sacrifice, and an infield out. They got their other run in the second on Bressler's home run.

Chicago's leading Cubs whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 8 to 7 in 16 innings. Trailing 0-5 when they went to bat in the ninth, the Cubs scored five times to tie the score. St. Louis seemed to have the game won in the eleventh when Bottomley h't a home run with two on, but Chicago came back to again tie the score in their half of the inning.

In another overtime game the Boston Braves defeated the Phillies 9 to 8 after eleven innings. The Braves pounded three pitchers for 20 hits, while the Phillies nicked five hurlers for 16 safeties.

Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

American League:

Pat Caraway bested Clint Brown in a 13-inning battle as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 0. Caraway's double in the 13th, his second of the game, scored the first run. The White Sox hurler allowed but three hits over the entire route. Brown, though touched for 15 hits, kept them scattered until the final inning.

The pitching magic of Earl Whitehill, southpaw ace of the Detroit Tigers, was missing Friday when the St. Louis Browns humbled the Tigers, 9 to 6. Whitehill started the game and was touched for six runs in the first inning.

Other American league clubs were idle.

WANT AD IN THE RECORD-ERALD WILL DO THE WORK

2000 To Buy Season Tickets For U. C. Grid

BERKELEY, Aug. 29.—More than two thousand football enthusiasts are expected to purchase season tickets for the home games this season of the University of California football team, according to Harry Davis ,ticket manager of the Associated Students.

This predicted figure will compare favorably with that for last season, Davis believes, since ticket holders this year will be given an advantage in exchanging their coupons for reserved seat tickets for the California-St. Mary's game on October 11, and will be given a preferred place among applicants for pasteboards for the California-Southern California contest at the Los Angeles coliseum, Nov. 8. Both games are expected to be sellouts.

Applications for both the St. Mary's and Trojan games received to date show tremendous increases over those received during a comparable period last year, Davis said today. More than 6030 seats have been spoken for from the Ca'ifornia allotment for the St. Mary's game, as compared to 3423 at this time last year.

For the Southern California game over 9100 seats have been applied for out of the California share. Last year at this time only 6091 seats had been spoken for, according to ticket department records.

U. C. TO HAVE HEAVIEST BACKS

BERKELEY, Aug. 29.—Even if only four first string backs will return for active service with the University of California football team this season, these four will be among the most formidable backs in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate conference.

The four together, if Coach C. M. "Nibs" Price should choose to use them that way, would form the heaviest backfield quarter in the circuit.

The men are Ed Griffiths, 188-pound quarterback—the heaviest signal-ca'ler to be used by the Golden Bears in recent years—'Moose' Garrity and Joe Hickingbotham, two "re-built" fullbacks who weigh 189 and 193 pounds respectively, and "Rusty" Gill, the slashing fullback, whose weight is 190 pounds.

They average 190 pounds to the ounce, and in the opinion of their coaches none of them is carrying excess weight to be trained off after the season opens Sept. 15, for all four are in excellent condition now.

The only other backfie'd in the league which comes close to the Bears' "tonnage" is the Trojan quarter of Messrs. Duffield, Apsit, Musick and Pinckert, whom the Bear ball-carriers will oppose Nov. 8, in Los Angeles. The four average 188 and one half pounds now as they await the opening of the season.

Now that Herb Fleishhacker and "Chuck" Smalling are gone from Stanford, Pop Warner's backfield has lost part of its heavy artillery. Hillman, Moffatt, Rothert and Simkins together wou'd average close to 183 pounds, and little difference would be made in the average if Rothert should take Simkins' place at fullback ,making room for Caglieri, a 184-pounder, at half.

While Price may have recourse at times to this "heavy duty" backfield, it appears likely that he will use one lighter halfback. Even so he has a 186-pounder in George Watkins, one of the leading aspirants for the place, and he wou'd have Ray East and Ralph Seely, each who weighs 180 pounds or more ,in reserve.

CLEVELAND.—UP—Chief of Police Jacob Graul called Patrolman Earl Flannigan to his office.

"Patrolman Flannigan," he asked, "what's this about your threatening two women with your revolver and calling them names because they caught you kissing a girl in your car?"

"Chief," said the patrolman, "I had just made up with my wife and was kissing her. A policeman can kiss his wife, can't he? These two women came by and laughed. I got mad and told them off."

Patrolman Flannigan was suspended for conduct unbecoming an officer—not because he kissed his wife, Chief Graul explained to the press.

A nervous boy and a rather frightened girl met in Astoria, L. I. on a hot summer day in 1925. They stood on the threshold of a test that was to influence their entire futures.

The boy was Charles "Buddy" Rogers. The girl was Josephine Dunn.

Their Long Island meeting place was the Paramount Pictures School. Rogers had been summoned there from the University of Kansas, where he had been active in campus theatricals and musical organizations. Miss Dunn didn't have to go so far. She was a member of the chorus in a Broadway musical show.

Rogers and Miss Dunn were selected fro mthe schoo''s personnel as "good screen material." They appeared together in the "graduation" picture "Fascinating Youth."

As the result of their performances—"Buddy" as the bewhiskered "dad" of the picture and Miss Dunn as the fast-stepping daughter, they both went later to Hollywood. At the Western film capital they appeared together once more, in "Get Your Man."

Then their paths diverged. "Buddy" forged ahead rapidly to stardom. Miss Dunn also made enviable progress ,playing leading lady roles in a number of pictures, including Al Jolson's "The Singing Fool."

Now "Buddy" and Miss Dunn are to be seen and heard together in their first talking picture "Safety in Numbers" which comes to the Fox-California theater today. But "Buddy" is no bewhiskered "dad" in this one. He is the impetuous and musical-minded son and heir to millions who goes to New York to learn about women. Miss Dunn, as a gorgeous Follies girl, is one of the women he learns about. The others are Virginia Bruce, Carol Lombard. Kathryn Crawford and Geneva Mitchell. Altogether, these five leading women constitute the most personable array of blond and brunett "It" that was ever offered to the blandishments of a romantic-minded star.

"Safety in Numbers" is an original story by George Marion Jr., and Percy Heath. Marion was co-author of "Sweetie" and Heath adapted "Close Harmony."

There are seven songs in the production, composed by Richard Whiting, with lyrics by Marion. Whiting and Marion have teamed their talents to produce a number of successful talkie songs, among them "My Sweeter Than Sweet," from "Sweetie."

Foot Travel Proves Cheap

GOUVERNOUR, N. Y.—Travel by foot in the early 1800's certainly was inexpensive if the 300 mile journey of Elisha Barrel of Hartford, Washington county, is taken as a criterion. Barrel in 1826 walked from Gouverneur to his home in 16 days at an expense of $2.42. This was exclusive of liquor he purchased en route. One overnight stop cost him only 18 cents.

Builder Revenges Stunting Fliers

MANTEO, N. C. —UP— Harry Lawrence, Manteo contractor, believes in reciprocation. Several noted fliers had taken him for rides in their planes from the Goosewing club, frightening him with tail-spins, barrel-rolls and loops. Lawrence reciprocated by taking the fliers on a breath-taking, hair-raising ride over the sandhills in his automobile. Motoring on the sandhills produces a sensation similar to airplane antics.

Revolts Sweep Latin America

By UNITED PRESS

Peru's successful revolution appeared Friday night to have inspired insurrectionists in at least three other Latin-American countries.

Alarming reports of the spread of unrest indicated outbreaks were anticipated in Argentine and Brazil. Peru meanwhile was governed in comparative peace by the third governor there within a week.

Buenos Aires was heavily guarded by federal troops.

Disquieting reports from southern Brazil reached Montevido indicating revolutionaries were active in the state of Rio Grande do Sul.

In Cuba an uprising was believed fustrated when federal authorities arrested 20 men.

"Ape Boy" Fakes Poison Suicide

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 29.—UP—Gordon Northcott, Riverside rancher, sentenced to be hanged here for the murder of four boys caused confusion in the prison late today when he shouted to a guard "I've taken poison."

Northcott was taken to the prison hospital, given antidotes and a stomach pump was applied. Then Doctor J. Edwin Garfinkle said there was no evidence of poison and prison authorities believed the Northcott alarm had been the result of a joke by other prisoners or by himself to fool them.

U. S. MAN TO FACE REBEL COURT

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 29. —UP— Lieut. Comdr. Harold C. Grow, former United States naval officer, will be held for trial by a Peruvian military tribunal for his alleged part in the defense of the ousted Lequia regime, Lieut. Col. Luis F. Sanchez Cerro, head of the military junta now in power, said today.

"Grow was a mercenary hireling of the traitor, Lequia," Sanchez Cerro told the United Press in an interview. "He flew to Arequipa carrying bombs. The consequences of his action might have been incalculable.

"He will be judged before a Peruvian military tribunal."

Grow Resigns

Grow, who resigned from the American navy and is now a civilian, was captured by Sanchez Cerro at Arequipa when the American aviator flew over the southern rebel camp reportedly on a reconnoitering patrol. Grow had been in the service of Augusto B. Lequia, former president of Peru, and was understood to have made the flight at Lequia's orders when the original revolt broke out at Arequipa last Friday.

Sanchez Cerro also told the United Press during the first interview since he assumed power 48 hours ago that he had ordered Lequia brought ashore from the cruiser Admiral Grau, in Callao port.

Lequia will be held in prison ashore, presumably in Lima, until his trial, the head of the new military junta declared. The trial date has not been fixed.

Lima Normal

A delicate situation involving members of the diplomatic corps in discussions if not a controversy with the new revolutionary junta thus was feared.

The diplomatic corps, as a body, is known also to have insisted that Lequia be permitted to depart unmolested into exile. The military junta, promised the people that Lequia and others in the former regime would be held to account for alleged misdeeds in office.

Lima was nomal today, the civil guards having replaced the soldiers on patrol most of the week.

Williams complained to his congregation that the noted pair should be banned because "they are portraying a side of our race we least desire to have portrayed. Columbia has spared no expense in bringing this picture to the screen. It is elaborately staged and superbly presented by a roster of stars that are familiar to every moving-picture patron. Leading roles are enacted by Barbara Stanwyck, prominent stage star, Lowell Sherman, sophisticated screen actor and Ralph Graves, the talented young star who created such phenomenal success in "Submarine" and "Flight." Supporting roles are played by Marie Prevost George Fawcett, Nance O'Neil, J. Walker) and Juliette Compton.

Pillory Out 100 Years

LONDON,—UP — One hundred years ago today Peter James Bossy stretched his cramped sore body and groaned.

He walked slowly away from the outside of Old Bailey. His pillory sentence was over.

Bossy was the last pillory prisoner of London. The instrument of punishment popular for 600 years but which already was being frowned upon here was abolished by statute seven years later.

The pillory originally was instituted for giving short-weight to their customers. Later its use was extended to other culprits.

The underword knew it as "stretchneck" just as the ganster in the United States playfully call the electric chair the "hot seat."

In extreme case a pillory prisoner might also suffer removal of his ears, slit nose or lips and other barbarities. It was, of course, the privilege of passersby to stop and taunt the unfortunate victim.

Titus Gates was condemned to the most fearful of all pillory sentences. He had to appear each year to do a five-day sentence.

57 KILLED IN ENGLISH HEAT WAVE

LONDON, Aug. 29.—UP—A violent rain and thunder storm struck London at 12:30 a. m., washing the heat from the parched pavements and bringing relief after a week of torrid temperatures in which the mercury daily spurted into the nineties.

Clouds gathered during Friday evening and lightning flashed continuously as darkness fell. The heat was oppressive, and clung like a plague over southern England as the death toll mounted and millions sweltered. Thermometers hit a peak of 94 late yesterday.

Fifty-seven deaths were reported in England alone during the torrid spell and prostrations crowded the hospitals.

The most spectacular incident resulting from record temperature occurred at Hastings, where five heat-crazed bears killed their trainer, a German named Adolf Crossmeyer, 25, as he was feeding them in their cage.

Londoners suffered as they plodded through the day and prayed for relief. Thousands escaped to beaches as the mercury soared in the nineties.

Freakish storms hit northern England and Scotland, great hailstones falling in a cloud-burst which swept Yorkshire. Three towns were flooded, many houses washed away, and sheep and poultry drowned.

In Scotland, Aberdeen reported an electrical storm which terrorized the people, killed cattle, ruined property and damaged telephone lines. The lightning continued almost incessantly for three hours.

The Duke of York was unable to talk with Glamis Castle on the telephone when he called to find out how the duchess and their new infant daughter were getting along.

PRODUCTION OF OIL TO BE SLASHED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—UP—P. N. Boggs, chairman of the committee on statewide curtailment of oil and gas, addressing ten members of the committee late today, declared that the committee proposed to establish a curtailment figure substantially less than the $96,000 barrels per day under which producers are now operating.

A decline in consumption of gas by the motoring public due to the falling off of trade and transportation throughout the Pacific coast states, was given as the basic reason for revision of conservation figures by Boggs.

"It now becomes necessary," Boggs said, "that we apply this decline of consumption back to production, if we are to carry out our effort to establish an economic balance by December, 1931.

Boggs said that the special committe of eleven, which made the original survey with the result that the 596,000 barrels per day figure was fixed, would be called into conference on September 2, to assist in the revision.

"On September 4, the general committee will meet to hear the recommendations of the fact-finding committee and will determine on that date if the new and greatly reduced curtailment figure will be undertaken by the producers," Boggs said. "While this new curtailment figure will unquestionably present the most severe problem which has ever confronted our industry, I am satisfied the operators will accept it and put it into immediate execution, provided they can properly visualize the value of their action to their own and allied industries and the prosperity of the Pacific coast in general."

Boggs pointed out that both Texas and Oklahoma fields are under curtailment and said that California had been the leader in this economic effort.

Rum Runners Slay Officers

ALTURA, Oklahoma, Aug. 29.—UP—Deputy Sheriff Elmer Carter was killed instantly and Joe Whitt, of the night police force, was wounded critically tonight when they were fired on by the occupants of an alleged rum running automobile they attempted to halt.

The slayers escaped. They were believed headed for the Texas border.

Alturus is in southeastern Oklahoma.

Airman, Passenger Killed In Crash

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 29.—UP—The burned bodies of William Hinkle, 33, pilot and Hierdn Miller, 23, were found in the ashes of Hinkle's airplane in a field near Rockford tonight.

Physicians estimated the men had been dead several hours. No one could be found who had witnessed the accident and as the entire plane was destroyed by fire, no explanation of the crash could be given.

Hinkle had been a flier for about a year.

SLAYER OF TWO DRY AGENTS ESCAPE

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 29.—UP—Vic Sutherland, 68-year-old wounded fugitive and alleged moonshiner, who shot and killed two officers and wounded two others in an attempt to prevent the arrest of his son and himself, had eluded a posse of 50 men led by bloodhounds late today and had apparently reached the safety of a mountain hide-out.

The slain officers were:

Joe Saunders, deputy sheriff and deputy game warden.

Oscar Duley, Eugene policeman and deputy sheriff.

Two Wounded

Wounded:

Rodney Roach, deputy sheriff and deputy game warden, shot in the arm and leg.

Lee Bown, deputy sheriff and son of Sheriff Harry Bown, shot in both legs.

The shooting occurred early today when Duley and Deputy Sheriff John Carlile attempted to arrest V. Sutherland, 21, son of the moonshiner, who was making a delivery of liquor to a man and woman in a car near Marcola, Ore.

Opened Fire

The elder Sutherland was concealed in the bushes near the road and opened fire upon Duley, who was standing on the running board of the automobile. Duley fell to the ground, mortally wounded.

Carlile, who was stationed down the road, rushed to the scene and found his partner. He was brought to a hospital in Eugene but died a short time later.

Saunders was killed when three officers went to Sutherlands' cabin to get some clothing to provide a scent for the hounds, the first time they visited the place it was empty, but on this trip they found the door locked. They battered it down and Sutherland, concealed behind a partition, opened fire, two shots piercing his heart. The other shots struck Roach and Bown in the arms and legs.

Roach and Bown crawled to their car and Roach, wounded twice, drove back to Eugene.

Sheriff Harry Bown and Police Chief R. W. Hall, returned to the lonely cabin with several deputies to rescue Saunders, who had been left on the floor. They had brought young Sutherland, who had been arrested a short time before, with them and Chief Hall forced the youth to enter the cabin while he followed behind him with a gun.

Hounds Used

"I am behind you with a shotgun," said Hall, "a false move and I will kill you. You go in and bring that man out and tell the old man to come out and give up."

Together they entered the room. It was empty, except for the dead body of Saunders.

With some of Sutherland's clothing for a scent, the hounds led officers to the home of Mrs. Irish, former wife of Sutherland. Mrs. Irish admitted she dressed Sutherland's wounded hand. From a bloodstain in his cabin, officers said he apparently was wounded in the right hand. His left hand was disabled in a mishap some time ago, but it is believed he still will be a dangerous killing man to arrest.

FOUR INJURED IN ROCK SLIDE

MINERAL KING, (Tulare County) — Aug. 29. — After a 24-hour dash by pack train a doctor and a nurse were today fighting to save the lives of four students who were crushed under tons of rock that engulfed them in a slide Tuesday.

Forty miles from the nearest settlement in one of the most inaccessible spots of the high Sierras, and 13,000 feet above sea level, the doctor and the nurse bravely faced the rarified air and improvised a mountainside hospital, and began treatment of the injured.

According to reports reaching here today, the injured have been identified as: Donald Griffin, 19, student at the State Teachers college, suffering from internal injuries; Edward Jordan, fellow student of Griffin's, suffering from several fractured ribs, fractured ankle and broken collar bone; Donald Downs, of Glendale, amputated arm, fractured ribs and broken collar bone and Robert Rankin, who sustained a fractured elbow and crushed shoulder and thigh.

It is under the most primitive of conditions that the doctor and his assistant are carrying on their surgery, the amputation of Downs' arm proving a real test of medical skill.

All four of the injured men were members of a trail crew in the Sequoia National Park. Two companions, George Carey and E. G. Sutherland, both of Exeter, escaped uninjured.

Due to the inaccessibility of the spot where the accident occurred, details reaching here have been exceedingly meager.

What few reports have been received, indicated that the party was trapped by the landslide while following a cut-off trail on Tyndall creek near Shephard's pass and north of Mt. Whitney.

One of the youths who escaped injury summoned aid after a day's ride to the nearest ranger station.

Mrs. Cochran said the man had helped her maneuver her car out of a small parking space and had then informed her he lived in her neighborhood asking if he might ride home with her. She agreed and claimed that after driving several blocks he frightened her by producing a revolver.

The woman said she slowed up and jumped out of the automobile. The machine abandoned, was found by police later and $20 had been taken from Mrs. Cochran's purse, which was on the seat.

ONE MORE BIG FACTORY comes to Bay Area

Electric Power and Natural Gas at unusually low cost were decisive factors in bringing to San Francisco Bay area the huge fertilizer factory of Shell Chemical Company.

Here on San Francisco Bay were found all advantages for large-scale industrial operation, including ideal climate, abundant high-class labor, accessible raw material, three transcontinental railways, deep-water transportation, modern port facilities, widespread and growing markets, and cheap and dependable Electric Power and Natural Gas.

This factory will require installation of 15,000 electric horsepower. Pacific Gas and Electric Company, with its great interconnected system of 61 power plants and its network of transmission and distribution lines lacing the entire Bay area, is ready to supply this service.

Construction work already commenced on this $5,000,000 factory will furnish jobs to 1500 workers. When completed the factory will commence operations with 300 permanent employees.

New industries and new payrolls are coming to San Francisco Bay, and cheap Electric Power and cheap Natural Gas are bringing them.

Growth and prosperity of San Francisco and the Bay area depend upon industrial development. The resources and energies of this company are devoted to that development.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

The Stronger Sex—And How!

THIS is the day when this woman's column can exercise woman's privilege
Of saying "We told you so!"
For here, at last, is broadcast glorious confirmation
Of our favorite line about "the stronger sex"!

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

Today it's not we who assert it—but a MAN who ADMITS it—
No less a man than Dr. Thomas Darlington, Commissioner Emeritus of the New York Health Department.
"We no longer hear of the stronger sex, as regards man," flatly declares Dr. Darlington.
"Candidly it would seem that the female of the species
"Is becoming stronger than the male."
What else have we been telling you for years?
But, for the moment, we spare you our crow.
To give a résumé of Dr. Darlington's most interesting description
Of THE STRONGER SEX and how it's getting that way.

"The average woman of today," he has just pointed out in his radio health talk,
"Is much taller, much stronger, much more vigorous and much more mentally efficient
"Than was the woman of even a quarter of a century ago.
"There is every indication, both medical and scientific,
"That she will continue to improve.
"And if this really comes true, man has much to fear,
"For unless there is a marked change on the part of the male
"An ominous future is in store for him.
"As a matter of fact, the stature of man has not changed much in the last twenty-five years,
"His vitality has shown no marked gain.
"And his mentality has not greatly improved.
"The present enviable position held by woman,
"And the lack of physical progress on the part of man,
"Can in a large measure be attributed to clothing.
"Since woman has shed the heavy underwear, the corset, the corset cover,
"The several piles of petticoats, the whaleboned basque, the long, trailing skirt,
"The woolen stockings and high shoes—a combined weight of several pounds—
"And replaced these with a silk step-in, lightweight girdle,
"Low shoes, silk stockings and a one-piece gown—all weighing about eight ounces—
"She has become a new being.
"Unfettered by clothing she has soared to new heights,
"And continues to soar.
"Man still clings to the conventional three-piece suit—trousers, waistcoat and jacket—and to heavy cloths.
"He still wears shirts, collars, scarves and underwear.
"Even in summer, man, in the main, wears cloth suits,
"And the average man's daily apparel weighs several times as much as that of the average woman.
"More than fifty years in the practice of medicine in the City of New York
"Has given me an unusual opportunity to study the effects
"Of the change of clothing styles upon the health of the community.
"In those five decades I saw the woman step from the kitchen to the rostrum,
"From the pantry to the business world,
"From the sewing table to Congress.
"I have seen the woman give up the needle
"For the tennis racket, for the golf stick and for the swimming trunks.
"I have seen her take her place in the field of sports
"And make herself equal to man in that prowess
"As well as in business and the professions.
"Her attire has certainly played a dominant role in her rise.
"With her entry into sports, woman was forced to wear fewer clothes,
"Giving her body more opportunity to come in closer contact
"With the life and health giving air and sunshine.
"She became stronger in every way, healthier and happier.
"Woman has emancipated herself from the bondage of tight and heavy clothing.
"And if man expects to compete with woman in sports, business and in the professions
"He must follow her example."

BRIDGES

Never cross the bridge
When you can swim the stream—
This is how you lose
The muscles for your dream

Never cross the bridge
When you can breast the tide—
If you want to strengthen
Your courage and your pride

But if you cross the bridge.
Burn it well behind you;
Never let regret—
With "if" or "maybe"—find you.

MIAU! MIAU!

According to Mrs. M. B. McGravran, president of the American Association of Cometicians and Hair Artists, American women use in a lifetime three times their weight in cosmetics. Which is all right with us—only we wish some members of our sex wouldn't think they had to put on a lifetime allowance all at once!

The Picnic Fire

WHEN you are gathering the wood for starting the fire, select dry birch bark for the inner layer, for this will readily kindle any fire, but hickory makes the best fire for cooking, and remember a small fire is better for cooking. When you get a brisk fire going allow it to burn down to a glowing state before starting your cooking.

Before leaving the picnic spot make sure your fire is entirely extinguished. Stir it with sticks until burned to ashes, then strew dirt, avoiding all leaves, over it to smother it, and stamp it out with the feet. Finally, stir it again to make sure not a cinder is left to start a possible blaze.

Care of Baby Teeth

MANY mothers pay little attention to the child's first set of teeth. They do not realize the importane of these teeth. If they did they would spare no effort to keep them until they fall out naturally and painlessly, which occurs between the ages of six and twelve years.

Much can be done to preserve the deciduous teeth by the right kinds of foods. Those that furnish mineral salts and vitamins are highly essential and these include oranges and other fruits, vegetables, especially the green leafy vegetables, whole grain cereals, milk and other dairy products and breads (not too fresh).

Cleanliness is necessary for sound teeth, and this too may be largely regulated by foods such as dry toast, zwieback, breads made from whole grains, raw vegetables and fruits. To have the best cleansing effect fruits should be served at the end of the meal.

Renewing Felt Hats

THE white or pastel felt hat finally comes to grief by way of spots on the crown which the cleaner fails to remove. Take off the crown band, turn the hat wrong side out, brush to a silky smoothness with a stiff bristled brush, and the hat will look almost new. Any soiled or rough edges along the brim may be trimmed off with a sharp scissors.

The Whole Evening Idea

EVENING FROCK OF WHITE ELIZABETH CREPE AND RHINESTONES.

But the pitfalls ahead are so many that I almost dread to begin to say where to start and where to lay off. The reason, then, that I am showing a beaded dress and all the things that go with it is that it is possible to go farther wrong in this evening direction than perhaps any other.

The reason I have selected the particular dress sketched is because the rhinestones have been applied to white crepe Elizabeth in the very happiest manner. The design is restrained and at the same time most effective, the whole effect being quite lovely and not in the least bit coarse. (Beads, too many of them, can so easily be this thing.) The rhinestones extend only to the knees, with no hint of all-over glitter which somehow is bound to make too much of a muchness.

* * *

Bags in Brocade

BAGS for evening show very little change from last season—perfection of material and making being the big idea. An antique brocade is used, soft in tone and mellowed by age—the sort of thing really that is so handsome and so right that it can be carried with almost any evening dress. The more expensive of these have antique filigree gold frames, the one pictured topped with a filigree frame and clasp of rose quartz. These are long—from nine to twelve inches—and only four to five inches high.

If not so much money is available, then the envelope bag, sans frame, of antique or modern brocade is the next best bet, and very interesting these are too, being just as smart in design as the others only not nearly so costly.

* * *

Jewelry and Slippers

WITH a dress beaded in rhinestones — forego rhinestone jewelry. It makes too much of a glitter, and this is something you must watch out for.

I have chosen old-fashioned seed pearl jewelry to go with this dress. The earrings are drops of these pearls surrounded by heavy gold and the bracelets ropes of seed pearls wound round a gold band. You can wear two of these bangle or hoop bracelets on each arm if your taste calls for that, or two on one arm only if you wish to be a trifle more retiring. Pearls always help—they are very flattering.

For the slippers, a pair of white crepe de chine Grecian pumps trimmed with bands of silver leather and a silver-covered heel.

Wrap in Keeping

ONE of the best wraps brought over among the new imports is sketched here. It is one of these things that has no distinct seasonal marking. It will do as well next season as it does this, and it is just as youthful as it is matronly. Moreover, it fits perfectly with the ensemble which we are now considering as it will with many others—a relief it is certainly from the capelet idea and a warmer thing for winter evenings.

It is made of chiffon velvet with long scarf ends that cross and tie at the back of the neck. Silver fox skins for the more handsome ones make wide sleeve line borders—black fox for the less expensive variety.

The sleeves are purposely left open for the addition of long gloves, for, without a doubt, gloves will be worn quite generally and they can be depended on to keep the arms warm, added to which they add immeasurably to the general smartness of the costume as a whole.

IT'S not so much what you wear as what you wear it with, if the old adage can stand a little revamping to suit a new idea.

The dress can be a perfectly magnificent thing, style right and flawless in every smallest detail. But if the wrong things are worn with it, the dress is killed and might just as well be much less beautiful for all the effect it creates and all the good it does for its wearer.

Accessories have become so vastly important in the general scheme of any ensemble that they almost have to be given primary consideration because of their subtle power to make or mar.

I have had sketched for this page a gathering of evening things that do the most for each other—this merely for an example. It is a more or less perfect picture to point the way for others that may be assembled according to individual taste.

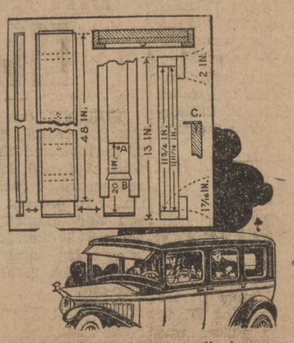
Beads and Beads

FOR some time I have been wanting to talk about beaded dresses. Certainly they are to be done again and beautifully this season.

For the Home Mechanic



A TABLE, or say two tables, one for each seat in the sedan, can be made by the handy man any Saturday afternoon. The result will be more than satisfactory when the family takes a long touring trip or when running out for an auto picnic: for, with a table—with its two end hooks (C) stuck between the glass and the inner edge of the metal frames on the bottom side of the two door windows, one can easily and comfortably partake of a meal, or indulge in a game of cards, or beguile the weary hour with a game of solitaire.

The tables are adjustable, for the sake of stowing them beneath the back of the front seat in the space occupied by the foot rail in the rear section of the car. A catch of the swivel-button variety, placed at either end of the seat back, will hold the table in place.

The length and width of the table is, of course, regulated by the space just mentioned; but, thirteen inches is a desirable width if it is possible to have the table that width. Some sedans will require the proportions given in our illustrations, while others will require different proportions. That is a matter for the handy man to decide.

The lumber is California redwood, or perhaps cedar, principally because clear, wide boards of these woods can be easily obtained. The screws used to join the various parts should be of brass to prevent rusting. The strips of metal (C) should be of brass, to prevent scratching the glass in the windows. Three-quarters of an inch is thick enough for the table; and five-eighths for the sliding ends, grooves and stops. One-sixteenth of an inch is allowed for clearance, both in width and depth, in constructing the grooves.

FORTY KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

CRINKLE JUNCTION, Aug. 22—Good evening, readers of the Evening Breeze! This is Eddie Gizzick at the typewriter, banging out this story of the train wreck for you and believe us, it's a whale of a yarn.

It seems a B., L. & M. express was going sixty miles an hour two miles south of Crinkle Junction—and Crinkle Junction, by the way, friends, is the county seat and the home of Pinkiebaum's Grade A Non-Rip Hosiery—well, this train was whizzing at fifty-five miles an hour—Wait a second. Correction: The train was going sixty miles an hour when it split a switch.

This news of the great train wreck, dear readers, is being brought to you through the courtesy of the Evening Breeze, New York's greatest newspaper; subscription, $9 a year in advance or six months for $4.50. The Evening Breeze reaches the home.

* * *

Well, anyway, after the train split the switch, the locomotive and three Pullman cars went hurtling into a ditch and the result was all pretty confusing. This is Eddie Gizzick, the Evening Breeze star reporter, who is writing these facts about the train wreck for you.

Well, there were moans and groans from the injured and I don't mean maybe. The Evening Breeze, with its customary enterprise—remember, we were the first paper in town to carry news of the solar eclipse last April—the Evening Breeze was right on the job collating the facts which are now being presented to you through the courtesy of the International Paper Company, the Hoe Press and Galt & Freibord ink manufacturers.

The hissing of escaping steam was something awful and never in the memory of the oldest Evening Breeze reporter has such a scene unraveled itself. They counted up the dead in the three Pullman cars and they totaled an even forty. The death list may even reach thirty-five. But we're saying forty on account of the conservative policy of this paper, a thing we've always been noted for.

* * *

And now, readers of the Evening Breeze, your favorite paper has a big treat in store for you. We're going to have the engineer of the wrecked train say a few words to you. Mr. Elmer T. Mudnock, engineer of the wrecked train:

"Well, folks, I ain't much of a hand at writing pieces for the big city papers, but it sure was a whale of a wreck and I'm glad of the opportunity to be in it. I thank you."

That was Elmer T. Mudnock, engineer of the wrecked train, who wrote the above paragraph for readers of the Evening Breeze. Just another instance of our enterprise in giving our readers nothing but the latest and best in the way of big news. Elmer T. Mudnock will not be interviewed by any other paper and what he wrote above is exclusively for readers of the Evening Breeze.

And that about tells the whole story of the disaster to you readers. It was perfectly terrible—forty killed—the hiss of escaping steam—and great confusion. That sums it all up. It certainly was some wreck.

This is the final sports edition of the Evening Breeze you are reading and the above account of the horrible train wreck was especially assembled for you by our city staff. This concludes the wreck story. You can now turn to page eight, third and fourth columns, and see what the Cubs and Giants did. Good evening, dear readers. Don't forget this is the Evening Breeze.

THIS AND THAT

That second earthquake tremor felt in Italy this week was only Mussolini pounding on his desk.

Job on N. Y. Bench Costs $20,000.—Headline.

They do it even better in Chicago. Rogers Hornsby's got a job there on the bench that's costing $40,000 a year.

Another thing you can say for those midget golf courses is that in times of drought they only need paint to keep their fairways green.

If things get any tougher, they'll be merging Amos and Andy.

Until reading of Chicago judges and city officials on the payrolls of gangsters, we didn't know vest pockets were so large this season.

We're glad to know there's at least one kind of derby that isn't the same from year to year.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

All of the readers of this department who tried the prize-winning salad recipe, which won for Mrs. Handforth a mechanical refrigerator at the Refrigeration Show over in Brooklyn, will be glad to hear that I have persuaded her to give us another of her recipes.

KAREN HOLLIS

This one will bring joy to the hearts of the bargain hunters, for its main ingredients all appear on the list of special sales at the chain stores this week. It is an excellent choice for luncheon, being rich in vitamin and nourishment it is attractive in appearance and easy to prepare.

You will notice that this recipe calls for corn flakes rather than bread or cracker crumbs to provide the crisp crust of the casserole. At first, I was a little dubious about that innovation, but now I am so enthusiastic over the idea that I am going to try corn flakes as topping on Brown Bettys and fruit puddings as well as for baked fish.

If you will go bargain hunting you will find that excellent tuna is to be had at 17 cents a can this week, tomato soup is three can for a quarter, and corn flakes two packages for 15 cents, which makes the cost of this dish remarkably low.

TUNA A LA HANDFORTH

1 can tuna
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped pickles or relish
1 can tomato soup
½ cup water
½ cup corn flakes

Melt the butter and add flour, stirring until smooth. Add the tomato soup and water, a little at a time, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Break tuna in small pieces and add with the seasoning. Put in a casserole, top with corn flakes and put in moderate oven for about five minutes, or until corn flakes have browned slightly.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

BANTAM AUSTIN SHOWN HERE BY DORR

Of considerable interest to the motoring public will be the display of the Bantam Austin by Roy K. Dorr, Richmond representative of the concern, at his show rooms at Eleventh street and Bissell avenue today.

A few of the stellar qualities of the car, according to Dorr, are its compactness, its ability to turn in an exceedingly short radius, the lightness of its steering apparatus its short wheel-base and most essential, the economy of the car.

This handy little car is designed for compactness. The wheelbase is 75", twenty-eight inches less than any standard car now in production. The tread is 16" less than standard.

The lightness of the steering in this Bantam car—a half turn of the wheel will turn the car completely around—its ability to dart in and out of traffic, its quick acceleration and quick stopping due to its four-wheel brakes, make the Austin a joy to drive in traffic, Dorr states.

This short wheel base and narrow width, combined with great steering ease ,possible because of its light weight, make it easy to fit the Austin in a space along curb less than the length of any standard car.

This car will do 40 miles on a gallon of gasoline. Indeed in tests it has repeatedly done better than 55 miles on a gallon.

The crank case holds but five pints of oil, so little does it use that it should not need refilling until the oil is changed at each 1000 miles.

The light weight and exceptional balance of the Austin Bantam will give you from 20,000 to 40,000 miles on a set of tires, Dorr declared.

The cost of gas, oil and tires will be less than 3-4 cent per mile

TRADE BUREAU CLASSES ON INCREASE

Extension of the Student Travel Bureau idea to other cities is now in sight, according to a report yesterday by the chamber of commerce which sponsored the plan here and helped to bring about its adoption in the Richmond high school.

Fred D. Parr of the Parr-Richmond Terminal and V. O. Pinckney of the South African Dispatch line, have both been added to the board of directors of the Armstrong School in Berkeley ,it was announced by J. E. Armstrong. He said these two men had been instrumental in bringing the plan to the attention of the Richmond group and that they were to be asked to help carry it out in the Berkeley school.

Pinckney was the first shipping man to agree to provide free transportation to foreign countries to students qualifying in the foreign trade course.

The course in the Richmond high school, which was outlined last year after the Bureau had been created, is now thoroughly organized with a large enrollment, it was said by Aubrey Wilson, chairman of the Student Travel Bureau. B. X. Tucker, high school principal ,is in general charge.

Armstrong said his school already has an advanced course in foreign trade and that it is desired to extend and enlarge it, and to work in conjunction with the Richmond bureau, to the end that his students may become eligible for some of the travel trips which are proposed as prizes to successful students.

"In accepting a seat as director of the Armstrong school, I am actuated solely by a desire to broaden the Student Travel Bureau idea," said Parr. "It is my wish to see this extended as rapidly as possible to other communities under the leadership of Richmond."

Murder Plot Seen In S. F. Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—UP—Suspicion was evoked today that John Donlin, discharged railway motorman who yesterday shot and killed District Superintendent Byron F. Gunn of the traction line and then killed himself, was planning several other murders. This theory was given credence by the finding of 200 cartridges in the dead motorman's pockets. Domestic troubles, stock losses and loss of his position because of drink were said to have motivated Donlin's act.
